

Department of Economics Pathways

Are you an economics student interested in Law School?

This is one possible pathway through your Economics degree:

Student Name

Student Number

First Year

First Year Economics

First Year Math

First Year Politics

First Year Philosophy

First Year Development Studies

POLS 110

PHIL 115

DEVS 100

Things to think about:

- At the end of first year – request Admission into the Economics Honours plan (ECON-M-BAH).
- Maybe the Politics, Philosophy and Economics degree plan (PPEC-P-BAH) is a better fit?

Second Year

Micro Theory	ECON 212
Macro Theory	ECON 222
Statistics
Math for Economists	ECON 255
Economic History
Indigenous Economics	ECON 244
Social Policy	ECON 241
Intro to Canadian Law	LAW 201
Intro to Politics, Philosophy and Economy	PPEC 200
Environment and Sustainability	ENSC 103

Things to think about:

- Will the Certificate in Law fit into your schedule?
- Pick your electives so you can add a minor in Development Studies, Politics, or Philosophy.
- Get active in the AMS, ASUS, or the Queen's Economics Society.
- Thinking about going on exchange? Plan to take third year micro, macro, and econometrics at Queen's.

Third Year

Micro Theory	ECON 310
Macro Theory	ECON 320
Econometrics	ECON 351
Economic Development	ECON 239
Law and Economics	ECON 348
Finance and Risk Management	ECON 322
International Political Economy	POLS 262
Ethics	PHIL 247
Political Economy of Development	DEVS 230
Employment Law	EMPR 210

Things to think about:

- At the end of third year you should be preparing to write the LSAT.
- Ontario Law School admissions applications are due by November 1. Who will be writing your reference letters?
- Check the deadlines for applying to Law Schools outside of Ontario.
- Are there extra-curricular activities that will make your application stand out – internships, student newspapers and online media, community engagement, or volunteer activities?

Fourth Year

Honours Seminar

Public Economics ECON 440

Cost-Benefit Analysis ECON 437
